Welcome from the President

I am delighted that you have chosen to study at one of our partners.

As President I have the privilege of leading City St George's, University of London, an institution with a distinctive mission focussed on business, practice and the professions.

That distinctive mission is what brings together a rich and varied community across the world. Our students are known for being highly employable, excelling at critical thinking, and demonstrating leadership in their chosen careers.

We cannot promise it will be easy but if you have made it this far, you already have what it takes to succeed.

City St George's is committed to student satisfaction. As a student, we rely on you to use student representation processes to make your views heard; we strive to continually improve our courses, learning and teaching, staff wellbeing, and the student experience. I encourage you to use your voice in your institution to foster change and growth.

Your qualification is validated by City St George's, and you will automatically become one of our worldwide alumni. Once a part of City St George's, your connection with the University is for life.

We are committed to supporting student success. Please take some time to familiarise yourself with the support services available to you. Ask for support from your tutors if you need it.

City St George's is committed to creating a culture of diversity and equality and to being an inclusive higher education institution so that you feel welcome. This commitment extends to our entire view of education and how it is delivered. We share this with our partners.

I take this opportunity to wish you every success with your endeavours and hope you will find this introductory guide useful.

Professor Sir Anthony Finkelstein
President

Welcome from the Academic Director

About City St George's

Welcome to City St George's, University of London. We are very pleased that you have chosen to study a course at one of our partner institutions. Successful completion of your studies will result in a degree from City St George's and the beneficial rewards of membership of our Alumni Network.

Validation is a process through which City St George's recognises specific courses as equivalent in standard to its own degree, diploma and certificate courses. Upon completion, you will be awarded a City St George's, University of London degree, diploma or certificate and will become a graduate of City St George's. City St George's, University of London takes overall responsibility for the quality and standard of your course but your institution is responsible for its teaching and the facilities to support it.

This guide is intended to provide you with information about the relationship between your institution and City St George's, University of London and the services available to you from City St George's.

We know that you will have closer contact with your institution than with City St George's, particularly if you are studying outside London. We hope that you are able to take advantage of the facilities and services of City St George's that are available to you. When you have completed your studies we hope you will be proud to be a graduate of City St George's, University of London as well as of your own institution.

Throughout your time as a student you will be given opportunities to tell your institution what you think of your experience and to participate in decision-making relating to your course. There will also be an opportunity, each year, for students to meet with representatives from City St George's to provide feedback. Your views help us to shape the course for you and for future students. I look forward to meeting some of you during your course and in the meantime, I welcome you to City St George's and wish you well with your studies.

Professor Laurence Solkin
Academic Director (Collaborative Provision)

City St George's, University of London is a leading international university, committed to academic excellence and focused on business and the professions. For over a century, with skill and dedication, we have been using education, research and enterprise to transform the lives of our students, our community and the world for over a century. Our partner institutions share our ambitions: they recruit capable and enterprising students who, after a period of dedicated study, achieve a City St George's qualification.

City St George's

In August 2024, City, University of London merged with St George's, University of London creating a powerful multi-faculty institution. The combined university is now one of the largest suppliers of the health workforce in the capital one of the largest higher education destinations for London students. Our campuses are spread across London in Clerkenwell, Moorgate and Tooting, where we share a clinical environment with a major London teaching hospital.

Academic excellence

Academic excellence is at the heart of everything we do. Our students are educated by academic staff, many of whom are leaders in their fields engaged in world-leading and internationally excellent research. They come from over 50 countries and bring a global perspective and a commitment to providing our students with a supportive learning experience. We continue to develop our standing as a leading global institution for education and research.

A central London location

City St George's is located in the heart of London, which means that our students are close to the capital's leading financial, legal, media and medical institutions. We are also close to leading theatres, music and dance venues, galleries, museums and sports clubs. Professionally and personally, students at City St George's and its partner institutions have the opportunity to benefit from all that London has to offer.

Expertise in education

We have a strong tradition of expertise in education. Our close links to business and the professions, which developed from our establishment in 1894, have ensured that throughout our history, we have offered undergraduate, postgraduate and professional courses that are inspiring, challenging and above all relevant. With the majority of our courses accredited by professional bodies, both at City St George's and at our partner institutions, City St George's students enjoy exceptional employment prospects upon graduation.

Validation

How does the validation relationship work?

We work with staff at your institution through our Academic Services Department and appoint a senior member of our academic staff, the Course Board Chair, to oversee the academic matters relating to your course.

Your institution will have various committees to oversee the development of your course. One of them will report to the City St George's Course Board, which has representatives from your institution, City St George's and an external advisor. As City monitors your progress at the end of each year and makes awards at the end of your course, it is also responsible for chairing the Assessment Board, comprised of members from your institution and external examiner(s).

We meet with students from your institution each year to discuss your course. We also have a process of revalidation that takes place every few years where courses are fully reviewed, which provides a further opportunity for students to meet with City St George's staff.

Contacting City St George's

Queries about your course should be directed to your institution in the first instance.

If you do need to contact City St George's and are not sure where to direct your query, you can email or telephone Academic Services on city-validation@citystgeorges.ac.uk or 020 7040 4132.

City St George's and you

Course handbook

Everything you need to know about your course will be contained in your handbook. This is written by your institution to guide you through your studies and is an invaluable resource to help explain the expectations of your course and to provide details on support available to you.

Contacting City St George's

There may be fellow students at City St George's you would like to contact, such as those on our music or cultural management courses or students on our business courses. Please contact Student and Academic Services at City St George's who will be happy to put you in contact with other students.

Travel information and information about how to find the City St George's are at the back of this guide.

City St George's ID cards

Your institution will ask you to complete a City St George's registration form. Once we have received and processed it we will provide you with an ID card which is sent to you through your institution. Your ID card will enable you to access the City St George's campuses where you will find the library, Computing Services and Students' Union. Please carry your card at all times when you visit. Should you require a replacement card (if, for example, it is lost or stolen), you should contact the course administrator at your institution who can arrange a replacement.

Feedback

We welcome your feedback. There are several ways of contacting us: through your student representative, via feedback questionnaires or by contributing to staff/student liaison meetings.

Useful information

Equal opportunities

City St George's, University of London, in conformity with its Charter, confirms its commitment to equal opportunities in all its activities. It is intended that all students should receive equal treatment irrespective of political belief, gender, sexual orientation, age, disability, marital status, race, nationality, ethnic origin, religion or social background.

Disclosures

To comply with statutory and government requirements we must provide data to other organisations. Wherever possible, you will be informed about these disclosures but in some cases it will not be possible to do this. City St George's may also be obliged to release information to the police and similar law officers as part of criminal investigations and, in some instances, to officers of the court in relation to civil proceedings. When you register with City St George's you will be giving us permission to process data about you.

Complaints

Your institution will publish details of how to make a formal complaint in your course handbook. If the complaint relates to the quality of the academic programme and if, having pursued your complaint within your institution, you feel it has not been dealt with satisfactorily, you may request a review of the outcome by City St George's, University of London.

Academic misconduct

Academic misconduct is any action that produces improper advantage for the student in relation to their assessment or deliberately and unnecessarily disadvantages other students. It includes, but is not limited to, plagiarism, impersonation, collusion and disruption.

Cases of suspected academic misconduct will be reported to an Academic Misconduct Panel who will investigate the matter and consider an appropriate course of action. Where academic misconduct is established the Panel may recommend a range of penalties. Full information on the issues surrounding academic misconduct should be published in your course handbook and other institutional student resources.

Any form of academic misconduct is taken very seriously both by City St George's and our partner institutions and we will act to ensure that students found breaching the guidelines are dealt with appropriately.

Appeals

Your institution will provide you with details of the City St George's appeals process. All appeals should be made directly to City St George's.

City St George's Schools

City St George's, University of London has six Schools. Each is committed to providing undergraduate, postgraduate and professional degrees that are inspiring, challenging and relevant.

Bayes Business School

www.bayes.citystgeorges.ac.uk

Bayes Business School (formerly Cass Business School) is among the top one per cent of business schools worldwide. We offer undergraduate, specialist Masters, MBA, Executive Education and PhD programmes. Our research has a global reputation and we have an outstanding employment record after graduation.

School of Communication & Creativity

www.citystgeorges.ac.uk/communication-creativity

Established in 2022 the School of Communication & Creativity brings together our renowned Department of Journalism, with two new departments: the Department of Media, Culture and Creative Industries; and the Department of Performing Arts – which incorporates the recently-acquired Urdang Academy, one of the UK's finest performing arts colleges, specialising in musical theatre and dance. Our students gain unrivalled experience of real-world workplaces, developing practical skills which enhance their employability after graduation.

School of Policy & Global Affairs

www.citystgeorges.ac.uk/policy-global-affairs

The School of Policy & Global Affairs is located in one of the world's greatest financial and political centres. Formed in summer 2022, the School brings together the areas of Economics, International Politics, Sociology and Criminology. Our highly-rated courses in these subject areas equip students with the knowledge and skills to respond to the world's most pressing policy challenges. With strong links to industry and policy organisations, we engage our students and staff with the key challenges and debates that are shaping policy formation in a rapidly changing world.

School of Health & Medical Sciences

www.citystgeorges.ac.uk/health

From early 2025, St George's School of Health & Medical Sciences and City's School of Health & Psychological Sciences will join to form an integrated School: the School of Health & Medical Sciences.

St George's educates doctors, paramedics, physician associates, radiotherapists, radiographers, biomedical scientists, physiotherapists and occupational therapists. This complements City which offers nursing, midwifery, speech and language therapy, optometry, counselling, radiography, and psychology.

The new integrated School creates opportunities to generate significant change in the world of healthcare through interdisciplinary working. This includes changes to treatment, population health monitoring, workforce development and leadership, policy, and advocacy.

The City Law School

www.citystgeorges.ac.uk/law

The City Law School is one of London's major law schools. Offering an impressive range of academic and professional courses, it was the first law school in London to provide courses for students and practitioners at all stages of legal education.

The School offers undergraduate, postgraduate and professional education together with a wide range of tailored continuing professional development courses for qualified lawyers and those in associated professions. Our courses are among the best in the country, attracting high-calibre students who achieve significant success in the legal field and in other professions after graduating from City St George's.
